Healing Salve/ Compound C is not an eschariotic.

Healing Salve/ Compound C is intended for use after a tumor, parasite, or fungus has been completely removed from the body. It serves to seal the wound, greatly speeds healing, limits scarring, and prevents bacterial and viral infection. It's very important to keep the wound moist and sealed until completely healed.

Healing Salve/ Compound C is also highly effective in the treatment of sunburn, minor contact burns, rashes, skin dryness, skin allergies, acne infection, bug bites, etc. Especially useful in the tropics, in that it does not attract insects, and stays-in-place even when wet from perspiration or rinsing with water.

Healing Salve/ Compound C greatly speeds skin healing, prevents infection of virus, fungus, and bacteria. Due to the mineral crème base, Compound C remains sterile throughout application, is chemically neutral (non-allergenic), contains no harmful chemicals or additives. Compound C is Black Salve Indonesia's own proprietary formula, used with great success.

We highly recommend Healing Salve/ Compound C be included in your first aid kit. Use it as a first response to skin problems while traveling or at home.

Once the tumor or parasite has been completely removed from the skin, Healing Salve/ Compound C should be applied continuously until the skin has regenerated. Its three healing herbs greatly speed cell regeneration, and serve as natural antibiotic, anti-virus, and anti-fungus, anti-carcinogenic protection, as well as sun guard and moisture seal.

It's very important to keep the area completely sealed during healing, to prevent scarring, scabbing, infection. There is no need to use commercial antibiotics or crèmes in addition to this soothing salve. All the ingredients also work to relieve pain and inflammation.

Most people use Healing Salve/ Compound C, placed under a bandage. It can be washed off and reapplied as often as desired. Because it is water resistant, it does not need to be washed off completely.

Combined with the mineral crème, abundant healing alkaloids are more evenly released over time, serving to continuously dispense the medicine, and heal the wound more evenly and with less scarring.
